

Job Opportunity in Solar Energy

Job Title	Construction Site Manager
Salary	Competitive

Who We Are & What We Do

German ASEAN Power develops, engineers, constructs and operates utility-scale solar power plants and provides cost-competitive clean power to utilities and commercial & industrial customers in Southeast Asia. German ASEAN Power is headquartered in Singapore and currently operates in Thailand, Vietnam, the Philippines, Indonesia and Cambodia. More information under: www.german-asean-power.com.

What We Offer

- Exciting work in an international team of experienced renewable energy professionals.
- Direct interaction with executive management level.
- Immediate career perspectives in a fast-growing international RE company.
- Fair compensation.

Key Responsibilities

- Overall construction site management of solar power projects.
- Supervise construction workers to ensure work is completed according to engineering design under safety control within project schedule.
- Manage material delivery and storage on site and update of inventory list.
- Submit daily report and work progress update including safety report to executive management.
- Project cost controlling.
- Acceptance tests, protocol with client and / or subcontractors.
- Supervision of grid connection and power plant commissioning.
- Monitoring of quality standards during construction.
- Evaluate, identify and support selection of construction staff and subcontractors.

Skills & Requirements

- Bachelor's degree in electrical engineering, mechanical engineering, civil engineering, construction management or related discipline required.
- 2-3 years work experience in power plant, switchgear, substation or electrical project construction, or in high-rise building, main distribution board (MDB), cable wiring, cable tray installation required.
- Detailed knowledge of construction process of solar power plants is required - previous experience working in similar function required.
- Ability to understand bill of materials (BOM) and electrical drawings.
- Certification as a safety officer on supervisory level is a plus.
- Excellent verbal and written language skills in Thai and English.
- Reliability and the ability to work independently.

Work Requirements

- Flexible working time and self-organized work.
- Willingness to travel and work at construction site for construction phase.

Please send your short application and CV to: sticher@german-asean-power.com